Introduction

Listing all your possessions in the event of a disaster such as fire, an earthquake or burglary can be difficult. The emotions experienced after a loss may present a big challenge when you try to remember all of your personal possessions. Natural Disasters can strike anywhere at anytime. It is very important to take inventory of your personal property before you have a loss.

A complete household inventory can help you establish:

- A record of the contents of your home and their value.
- A record of serial numbers of your electronic goods and appliances.
- An indication of whether or not your insurance coverage is adequate.

This booklet is strictly intended as a guide to aide and assist you in documenting your possessions. Each home is unique in it's structure. Therefore, it may be necessary for you to copy certain pages or add additional sheets to complete your inventory. Please feel free to copy any page you may need.

A home inventory should be completed to keep track of your belongings and valuable items. A home inventory guide is available to all consumers through the Department of Insurance by calling us at 800-927-4357 or visit our website at www.insurance.ca.gov and download the Home Inventory Guide.

Inventory Tips

In addition, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) has launched an app for your iPhone® or Android phone which allows users to create a home inventory of your possessions. The free app lets you quickly photograph and capture images, descriptions and serial numbers, and stores the information electronically for safekeeping. The app organizes everything by room and category, and creates a back-up file for e-mail sharing. Photographs of household goods are especially helpful when an item is hard to describe on paper, or if a purchase receipt cannot be obtained. Each photograph should be labeled with date stamps and any additional pertinent information. You can get further information by visiting the NAIC website.

We recommend the following tips:

1. Walk around with a video camera, video every drawer and commentary about each item, email to someone offsite; or
2. Use the NAIC myHOME Scr.APP.book app which is available through iTunes for iPhone® and the Android Marketplace; or
3. Use this Department of Insurance paper version which provides insurance information and tips.

A copy of the inventory and supporting documentation, such as receipts and model numbers, should be stored in a safe place, such as a safe-deposit box, work office, or a relative's house. These records should also include financial documents such as insurance policies and mortgage information. Home inventories should be updated at least three times per year, and your insurance company should be notified of new purchases so that you are adequately insured for the entire amount of your belongings.

Need For Documentation

We recommend that you document all the personal property in your residence. Please use this booklet as a guide. While the pages of the booklet may include the main sections of your home many other areas may not be indicated. Do not forget the other areas such as extra closets, pantries, basements, attic, etc. Go through each room; write down and take photos or videos of everything in the room.

If you take videos, the video should include copies of receipts (if available) next to the item and also clearly show the serial number (if applicable). If video is used remember to date stamp all documents; the date of the recording. We encourage you to have a friend or family member operate the video while you narrate in a slow and clearly audible tone.

Storage Of Inventory Guide

Storage of your Home Inventory Guide is essential. We recommend that you keep an updated copy of the document in hard copy or electronic storage device (such as an external drive or flash drive) in at least two of the following places:

- Fire resistant box in your home, i.e., a safe.
- At your place of employment in a locked cabinet.
- With a family member, close friend or relative.
- With your accountant and/or lawyer.
- Safety deposit box.

Remember it is important to store copies of your inventory in a safe place away from your home.

Updating your Inventory Guide

Updating your Home Inventory Guide is very important. Major purchases such as flat screen televisions and refrigerators should be included in this guide at your earliest convenience after the purchase. We suggest you review and update your Home Inventory Guide three of four times a year (such as at the beginning of each season) to keep the document current. Once you have completed your updates, check with your agent or insurance company to determine if your coverage is adequate or if additional coverage is needed.

Homeowner's Bill of Rights

The largest single investment most consumers make is their home and related property. In order to best protect these assets, it is wise for consumers to understand the homeowner's insurance market. Consumers should consider the following:

Read your policy carefully and understand the coverage and limits provided. Homeowners insurance policies contain sub limits for various coverages such as personal property, debris removal, additional living expenses, detached fences, garages, etc.

- Keep accurate records of renovations and improvements to the structure of your home, as it could affect your need to increase your coverage.
- Maintaining a list of all personal property, pictures, and video equipment may help in case of a loss. The list should be stored away from your home.
- Comparison shop for insurance, as not all policies are the same and coverages and prices vary.
- Take time to determine the cost to rebuild or replace your property in today's market. You can seek an independent evaluation of this cost.
- You may select a licensed contractor or vendor to repair, replace, or rebuild damaged property covered by the insurance policy.
- An agent or insurance company may help you establish policy limits that are adequate to rebuild your home.
- Once the policy is in force, contact your agent or insurance company immediately if you believe your policy limits may be inadequate.

A Consumer is entitled to receive information regarding homeowner's insurance. The following is a limited overview of information that your insurance company can provide:

- The California Residential Property Insurance Disclosure.
- An explanation of how your policy limits were established.
- The insurance company's customer service telephone number for underwriting, rating and claims inquiries.
- An explanation for any cancellation or non-renewal of your policy.
- A copy of your policy.
- The toll-free telephone number and internet address (URL) for reporting complaints and concerns about homeowner's insurance issues to CDI's consumer services unit.
- In the event of a claim, an itemized, written scope of loss report prepared by the insurer or its adjuster within a reasonable time period.
- In the event of a claim, notification of a consumer's rights with respect to the appraisal process for resolving claims disputes.
- In the event of a claim, a copy of the Fair Claims Practices Regulations.

The information provided herein is not all-inclusive and does not negate or preempt existing California law. If you have any concerns or questions, the officers at our Consumer Hotline are here to help you. Please call us at 800-927-4357 or visit our website at www.insurance.ca.gov.

Structure Or Dwelling Coverage

Along with documenting the personal property within your home, the accurate coverage of your residence itself is a very important aspect of homeowner's insurance.

The replacement cost of your home is based upon its square footage multiplied by the cost per square foot to rebuild your structure. The quality of construction and your home's refinements should also be considered. Unless you are willing to take a loss, the dwelling or structure limit should be the amount it would cost to replace the house. Most insurers have in-house formulas which they use to evaluate the replacement cost of your home. However, you may find these formulas are not necessarily consistent.

READ YOUR POLICY CAREFULLY

If you do not understand any part of your policy or have questions about what it covers, contact your insurance agent or company.

The cost to rebuild your home may be very different from the market value of your home since reconstruction is based primarily on the cost of labor and materials. Many factors can affect the cost to rebuild your home, including the size of your home, the type of construction, and any unique features. Because of the variability, your independent agent should be able to assist you in establishing an appropriate limit to rebuild your home. You may also wish to contact a local building contractor in order to determine the current cost to rebuild your home per square foot. If this information greatly differs from your insurer's determination, be sure to have the contractor reflect his computations in writing, preferably under his business letterhead.

Lastly, it is important for you to periodically assess and, if necessary, update your insurance limits in order to maintain an appropriate limit that reflects current construction costs. Find out from your agent or insurer if your homeowner's insurance coverage limits are automatically reviewed or increased each year. Remember, ultimately it is your responsibility to make sure you are adequately insured.
