<sup>2</sup> This defendant was found guilty of taking an over limit and taking out of season, both misdemeanors, but the jury was hung on whether he was involved in a commercial conspiracy, an alternative count. On May 7, 2018, rather than participate in a retrial of the single count on which the jury had previously hung, the defendant entered no contest plea to the commercial conspiracy charge as a felony. Sentencing on all charges is now calendared for July 18, 2018 at the Ten Mile Court. This case is now weighed as a win.

<sup>4</sup> On Friday, May 11, 2018, the defendant elected to plead guilty to the felon in unlawful possession of ammunition count (the same count that the jury could not agree on) rather than participate in a retrial.. The change of plea included a stipulation of the parties that the defendant will receive a sentence of 24 months in state prison. This case is now weighed as a win.

<sup>5</sup> This matter has been set for retrial on May 29, 2018.

<sup>6</sup> While the prosecution was pursuing murder liability against defendant Ryan, any unlawful homicide conviction and unlawful personal use of a firearm finding that confronts a 63-year old defendant with up to 21 years in state prison (generally the remainder of his life) is weighed as a win.

<sup>8</sup> On Monday, June 11, 2018, the defendant was back in custody and now charged with a separate violation of willfully failing to appear. The defendant plead no contest to driving a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol and driving a motor vehicle with a blood alcohol .08 or greater, the two misdemeanor counts the prior jury could not unanimously decide. The defendant also admitted a prior conviction and that her blood alcohol was greater than .15. Evidence at trial was that the defendant's blood alcohol was .21/.22. Finally, the defendant admitted willfully failing to appear, another misdemeanor, for skipping out on the second day of her jury trial. Sentencing was continued to June 15th before Judge Faulder. This case is now weighed as a win.
