To Colleen Mack,

As a grape grower, I am concerned with having any kind of cannabis grow close to my vineyard. Just as wildfires caused smoke taint in grapes, I fear the odor from a cannabis grow will be absorbed by the skins of my grapes and result in a winery rejecting the crop, and I personally find the odor very displeasing.

I also fear that cannabis grows will attract criminal elements into our neighborhood endangering ourselves, our children, our grandchildren, increase trespass, and could potentially decrease the value of our property.

Sincerely,
